Two Murderers Executed at Minneapolis Yesterday Who Were Convicted by a Brother's Evidence.

MINNEAPOLIS, March 22 -Tim and Pete Barret were hanged here this morning at 11:14. About dawn a knot of men began to gather about the jail and it soon became necessary to bar the way to the rear entrance with great wooden timbers. About 10 o'clock Mrs. Barret went to the sheriff's and created a scene. She was taken away in a cab at 11 o'clock. There were 3,000 people gathered about the building. The condemned spent the morning with the priests and went to their death firmly. Both necks were broken.

The crime for which the Barrett's suffered the death penalty was committed the morning of July 28, and was a foul and cowardly murder. The night previous the Big Boston clothing store was burned, and the street cars on several of the lines were delayed. Among the delayed cars was No. 12, on the Cedar avenue line, driven by Thomas Tollefson, a married man. He reached Layman's cemetery about 1 o'clock in the morning. This was the last time he was seen alive. J. C. Hine, living near the cemetery, heard three shots fired, and a short time later Tollefson was found on his car, dead, and his money box, containing $20, was missing. A reward of $2,200 was offered for the conviction of the murderers, but for months no one claimed it. Finally Henry Barret, a brother of Tim and Pete, doing time in the county jail for illegal liquor selling, made a confession to County Attorney Jamison, in which he said that Tim and Pete had done the killing. Tim was then under arrest, having been brought in by Inspector Hankinson a day previous. Pete was arrested at Omaha, where he had gone soon after the murder. A long and sensational trial followed, in which Henry Barret appeared on the stand and gave testimony which hanged his own brothers. The crime for which the Barrett's suffertional trial followed, in which Henry Bar-ret appeared on the stand and gave testi-mony which hanged his own brothers. Both men were found guilty and sentenced to be hanged in July, but a stay was se-cured and the case taken to the supreme court on a motion for a new trial. A new trial was denied and the date of execution was fixed for March 22.

MINE INSPECTION.

Views of Dr. G. C. Swallow on the Benefi of the Law.

the Independent.]—The law passed by the last legislature providing for a mine inof these criticisms appear unjust and were caused doubtless by the imperfect abstracts of the law published.

It has been said the mine inspector can not own any mining property in Montana; ownership of mines, save to exempt such ines as are worked by the owners only from the provisions of the law. So the nine inspector is not deprived of the privmine inspector is not deprived of the privileges of ownership in our mines. But he can not be the employe or an officer of any mining company or mine in which more than four men are employed. He certainly should not be an officer or employe of any mine or mining company subject to the provisions of this law.

All mines which do not work more than four men, and all mines worked by the owners or lessees alone are exempt from the provisions of the law, as they should be.

The inspector of mines can not use nor permit others to use any information he may acquire of the value of mines and the ores of mines while in the discharge of his official duties. This, too, is as it should be. It was said the bill was emasculated when the amendment was adopted taking from the inspector the power to stop the work in a mine, but this is certainly a mistake. The is no good reason for giving one man the power to stop the work in a work in a mine, but this is certainly a mistake. The is no good reason for giving one man the power to stop the work in a mine, which might result in a damage of many thousand dollars to the owners of such mines, and be of no benefit to any one. When a mine is unsafe, it is not usually the fault of the owners, but the crime of the superintendent. The superintendent, therefore, and not the owners, should be punished, as the law provides.

If a mine is unsafe the law does not punish the owners by destroying the profits of the mine, but holds the superintendent or agent responsible in severe penalties. Should the inspector find some portion of a mine unsafe and so notify the superintendent or agent responsible in severe penalties. Should the inspector find some portion of a mine unsafe and so notify the superintendent or agent, the latter might not be able for want of materials or other means to make that part of the mine safe at once; but instead of stopping the work, he might continue it in parts which were safe until such time as all parts could be made safe, thus continuing the work of the mine to the advantage of both owners and workmen and at the same time accomplishing the objects of the law, the safety of all parties, and making the profits of both owners and workmen more certain.

But there is one defect in the law which may prove very serious. The compensation for inspector is by far too small and that provided for the deputy inspector is still less. No man qualified to fill those offices can afford to accept them and faithfully discharge all the duties required of him by the law for the compensation provided. The $2,000 appropriated for travelling and other expenses will be exhausted before half the mines are inspected, unless some means cheaper than the ordinary modes of travel are discovered. Mine owners pay many times as much for much less service, and service less burdensome and dangerous. The inspection of a mine is no pleasure trip.

Becoming Insane Through Idleness. A recent dispatch from Sing Sing, N. Y. ays: Edward Broderick, aged 19, and Jos. rogan, aged 24, were taken to-day to the Auburn insane asylum for convicts. About 11 o'clock last night the prison officials were startled by shrieks coming from the seventh gailery. On going to the cell of Martin Donnelley, aged 22, who was serving a three years' sentence, the keeper found Donnelley crouching in a corner calling to some one to save him from the devil. A light was placed in his cell and Donnelly calmed down. Principal Keeper Connaughton says that the men are going insane owing to their having no work. "I trust," he says, "that the legislature will do something very soon for the convicts. If they don't we will be kept busy all summer sending insane prisoners to the asylum." Warden Brush has returned from Albany, where he has been in the interests of the repeal of the Yates prison bill. He said to-day that he now has hopes that the bill will be repealed and that the prisoners will soon be put to work. uburn insane asylum for convicts. About

HOME TESTIMONY.

HELENA, Oct. 7, 1887.

I was suffering from an unusually bad cough, my lungs were sore and congested, and I consulted one of the best physicians in Helena, whose prescriptions failed to relieve me. I became alarmed, and at the suggestion of a friend purchased a bottle of Acker's English Remedy for coughs, and after taking it according to directions was completely cured. I therefore cheerfully recommend it.

An eminent physician says: A healthy liver secretes from two to three pounds of bile every twenty-four hours and disposes of this secretion where it will do the most good. Now if the liver is out of order, the whole system is in trouble, the spirits are depressed, the mind is not clear, and a person whose liver is not performing its duty is very soon unfitted for regular business.
